FTP Manager

- FTP Accounts
With the FTP account utility you can add FTP accounts to your domain. If your account has sub-domain support you can add FTP accounts for your sub-domain(s).
- Setup Anonymous FTP Accounts
Here you can change how anonymous FTP users should be treated and change the anonymous upload policy as well.
- Anonymous FTP Message
You can edit the anonymous FTP welcome message that users will see when they login to your FTP site.
- FTP Session Control
This utility allows you to disconnect users or time out FTP sessions.

Click Add FTP Account

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL `https://cb.optimalsolutions.com:2083/frontend/v/ftp/accounts.html`. The page title is "FTP Account Maintenance". The content includes instructions for logging into the FTP server and a list of accounts:

Account Name	Account Type
yvcd8ljk	Main Account
yvcd8ljk_logs	Main Account

Below the table, there are two links: `[ Add FTP Account ]` and `[ Back ]`. A yellow arrow points to the `[ Add FTP Account ]` link with the text "Click add ftp account".

Additional text on the page includes: "Make sure that you connect to `ftp.lawncareservicelandscapingdallastexas.com` with your FTP client or you may not be able to login." and "You can download your raw access logs at the following URLs using the login `yvcd8ljk_logs` and your account password:"

Enter the desired login and the password that you want then click create

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the cPanel interface. The main heading is "Add FTP Account". There are three input fields: "Login" (containing "sample"), "Password" (containing "sample"), and "Directory" (containing "/home/yvcd8ljk/public_html"). Below the fields are "Create" and "Clear" buttons. A yellow arrow points from the text "Enter login" to the "Login" field. Another yellow arrow points from the text "Enter password" to the "Password" field. A third yellow arrow points from the text "Click create" to the "Create" button. Below the form, there is a "Directions:" section with instructions on how to use the directory field. At the bottom, there is a "[ Go Back ]" link.

As you can see we have successfully added the ftp account.
